

transformation

In this 2010 collection from René Furterer's Phillippe Tapprest, the modern-day woman embraces change, transforming both herself and her hair. Transformation can be as simple as day to night, or as profound as a change in attitude or feeling. These looks exemplify moods and feelings, suggesting that women switch from style to style depending on their state of mind.

Hair: Phillippe Tapprest, international creative director for René Furterer

Photography: Alain Bocquet (Studio AB)

transformation